

IN HONOR OF KATHRYN ROSZAK

WHEREAS, Kathryn Roszak has been a dancer since the age of three. While she was mainly trained in Berkeley, she also trained in England, Canada, and New York, and has also acted in the Berkeley Repertory Theatre and American Conservatory Theatre; and

WHEREAS, her company, Dance Lumiere, trains her students to be professional artists, giving them the freedom to create their own choreography by blending both classical dance with "dance science" based on astronomy, the discoveries on Mars, and the Higgs Boson phenomenon; and

WHEREAS, her dancers performed at the recent 75th year celebration of the Golden Gate Bridge and have performed in Union Square, Yoshi's, Frank Lloyd Wright's Taliesin West, and the Copenhagen Cultural Festival; and

WHEREAS, Ms. Roszak is a dance specialist with Cal Performances as well as teaching with the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute. Danse Lumiere will be one of the first professional dance companies to perform in the Osher Studio in the Arpeggio Building.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT I, TOM BATES, Mayor of the City of Berkeley, do hereby declare Sept. 11, 2012 as in the city of Berkeley in thanks for her many contributions to broadening and enlarging our knowledge of the realities of other people's lives.

Tom Bates
